CCO-CPR was developed at the University of Arizona Sarver Heart Center in Tucson, Arizona. Research shows bystander CCO-CPR improves survival rates of cardiac arrest victims. This class is offered to you by the University of Arizona Sarver Heart Center staff, student volunteers, and students at the University of Arizona College of Medicine – Tucson. The goal is to provide quality information and hands-on training with CPR mannequins. Please note: THIS IS NOT A CERTIFICATION CLASS

In this short class, you will learn how to react if you see or hear someone unexpectedly collapse: Check, Call, Compress. Register online at: <https://www.tubacfiredistrict.org/cco-cpr-class/>
