I just wanted to thank the fire department for their assistance when I became very ill suddenly at the Tubac Festival of the Arts on Friday. The gentleman that administered was certain I should be checked out at the hospital or by ambulance services. I do want to thank them for stressing that my biological distress could indicate one or more emergency services. The ride home, part of it on our own bumpy dirt road did little to ease my problem. However when I got home, counted medication, and was able to verify that I was several pills behind on the OTC I take for GIRD, I quickly amended that over site. Within 4 or 5 hours I was totally out of distress and by morning, my old self, only fuming that I wasted my festival day! Anyway ~ very big thank you! I am mostly relieved that I didn't embarrass myself and vomit all over someones booth or the road or anywhere in public. My heroes! And another big thank you to the young lady who provided me with napkins and water to clean up!
